STRONG POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE SEEN IN CABINET SHIFT

ADMINISTRATION OPENS FIGHT TO REGAIN LOST GROUND.

CONTROL SOUGHT

Next Republican National Convention in Mind of Harding Forces.

Right 1922 by Janesville Daily Gazette

Washington—Damon and Pythias were closer friends than President Harding and the new postmaster general, Harry S. New, of Indiana, will tell to some extent why the appointment was made, but not all. There's a political significance in the cabinet shift which is apparent.

At the beginning of a fight part of the Harding administration to recover the regular republican national organization control of which they lost in the primaries last year. It means a determined effort to place in the hands of the regular organization the organization control of the next republican national convention which, of course, signifies the nomination of President Harding if he cares to run.

Within the last three weeks Mr. Harding has let his position become known. In addition, others are senator from Indiana, James Watson was a recipient of President Harding's views. The importance of this may be realized when it is recalled that Senator Watson has been lined up with former Senator Beveridge in Indiana's factional battle. That Harry New's defeat at the republican primaries was interpreted at the time as a blow to the Harding administration. Not the best of feelings have prevailed since the Indiana primaries, it being contended by some of the Beveridge people that Mr. New didn't go out and stump for Beveridge after the latter had won the regular republican nomination for the United States senator.

Voted for Baldwin.

No one knows, of course, how many republicans who voted against Beveridge in the primaries turned around and helped Samuel Ralston, Democrat, win the final victory November, but it is generally conceded that [Continued on Page 2]

House Passes Farm Credits Banking Bill

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington—The farm credits bill, proposing to establish two banking systems, one government and the other private, to meet the financial needs of the agricultural industry, was passed Thursday by the house. It now goes to conference. The vote was 305 to 36, chief opposition being registered by members from New York and the New England states.

The new federal banking system proposed would consist of 32 "intermediate credit banks" located in the same cities as the federal farm bank, each with a capital of $5,000,000 each. They would be authorized to issue tax free debentures up to a total $50,000,000 giving them aggregate resources of $60,000,000 or nearly twice the amount which the war finance corporation has been called upon to advance to the agricultural industry.

Private credit corporations which will be authorized by the bill, would have a capital of not less than $25,000,000 each and their number would be unlimited.

Party lines disappeared both during consideration and vote. Those opposing the bill included Stafford, Wisconsin.

Calder Deplores Rail Agitation

Washington—Congress "blocks" and agitation for government operation of railroads were deployed by Senator Calder, republican, New York, in an address in the senate, reviewing his 18 years of congressional service which ends March 4, following his defeat for re-election.

In his speech, Senator Calder said:

"I should like to appeal here for the end of all blocs or petty sectionalism for a better spirit, a more thorough understanding and a more wholesome regard for each other among the legislators who represent our United States."

Six Sailors Are Killed in Blast

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Manila—Six enlisted men on the United States destroyer Hubert of the Asiatic fleet were buried to death in an explosion in the boiler room, caused by a flare-back of oil. No others were injured.

The Hubert is a member of the 45th destroyer division, part of the Asiatic fleet, and has been stationed in the far east for more than a year. The vessel recently returned to Cavite for the winter, after visiting a number of Chinese ports. Seven officers and about 90 men comprise the crew. Lieut. Commander F. A. Braisted is in command.

Washington—Representative W. Bourke Cockran, democrat, New York, died suddenly Thursday.

Mr. Cockran, who celebrated his 59th birthday Wednesday, became ill Wednesday night and died early Thursday. He was on the floor of the house Wednesday night and made a speech in opposition to the pending bill to prohibit the use of oil.

It is expected a permanent organization of city representatives will be affected. This organization will be devoted to the formulation and furtherance of plans for development of water highways.

Two subjects are of chief concern to the delegates: the opening of routes to the sea from the Great Lakes, and the lowering of lake levels through the creation of a national drainage commission.

GRAN AWARDS TO BE MADE, FRIDAY—SHOW RUNS SATURDAY NIGHT.

With the last livestock and field products displays on exhibit, the Rock County First exposition was attracting full attention of city and country. Thursday, when the exhibit put on its now popular show of field products, the exhibit hour, was a success. The first of its kind attempted by a Chamber of Commerce in Wisconsin, will continue at the Coliseum until Saturday night.

Judging on the field products will be completed by Friday morning and ribbons will be awarded on prize gains, seeds and corn. Saturday will be farmer's day with the program by the Rock County Farm Bureau.

A review of the livestock display shows stock valued at $30,000 and by 40 head shown, representing the different breeds and types popular in Rock county. There was no attempt to bring in numbers, rather the effort concentrated on securing two representatives of each breed that carried quality representative of the county's biggest industry—livestock.

There was good response to the grain show samples being sent in from all parts of the county.

TON LITTER MATCH TO HELP FARMERS

Many Entries Being Received in Weight Making Contest at Fair.

Nominations for the ton-litter contest are now being received in Rock county by County Agent R. T. Glasco.

In no other contest put in recent years in Rock county has so much interest been taken by farmers as in the ton-litter idea, tried out successfully in several states last year. The ultimate end of every hog is the pork block and the ton-litter is a pork contest, a competition to save litters and put on lard. This is true to a marked degree at market.

The county agent has the special punch with which the litter must be entered in the contest must be marked at least within one week from the date of farrowing. No condition is made as to the size of the litter, but a farmer must have at least nine to start his entry.

The larger the litter of pigs, the better chance but it is a matter of individual honesty not to "switch" at the start and every pig will be inspected at fair time for the special mark.

Contest at Fair.

The Janesville fair board will probably offer good prizes in this contest, at least $100 to the first place. The winners here have the right to compete at either the state fair or meat show and at the later exposition the packers will bid on the litters.

The contest is a test of feeding and care. It should result in interesting information and experience. It is up to each breed association to put entries and the general conclusion among the entries is that the litter must be sired by a blooded boar.

It is up to the purebred breeders to demonstrate the value of blood in weight as well as type and prolificacy. The breed that wins will have a good sales-point.

Scales Are Judge.

Each litter nominated must be weighed up before being taken to the fair to make sure that it is eligible.

The litter must weigh a ton weight at six months or corresponding weight at lesser age, regardless of marking or nomination. The schedule of weights is given. Nomination cards are being sent out by County Agent Glasco and should be returned to him. Several nominations have been pledged this week. Here is the weight schedule.

Five and one-half months—1700 pounds, 20 pounds gain per day.

Five months, 1425 pounds, 18 1/2 pounds gain per day.

Four and one-half pounds, 1175 pounds, 16 2/3 pounds gain per day.

Four months, 950 pounds, 15 pounds gain per day.

Placing to be made on weight only—amount above ton or corresponding age weight to decide premium.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

STRONG POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE SEEN IN CABINET SHIFT

(Continued from Page 1.) If Harry New had not been elevated to a post in the cabinet of the president, he had an opportunity to recover lost ground in Indiana politics would have been nil.

Mr. Harding, if he is to be a candidate in 1924, needs the support of Indiana republicans. Former Senator Bevridge would have been an active presidential candidate if he had won the state last autumn, and there is no certainty that he will yet figure somehow in the contest yet as representative of the Indiana Republicans in Indiana is far from smoothed out.

The president will run for re-election if his party stays him to do. That is what is at stake of today. What the party wants to do will depend on the personnel of the next republican convention. If they are regulars and friendly to Mr. Harding they will want him to run and he will accede to their request.

Opposed to Primary

Matters are shaping, therefore, for a renomination effort. Mr. Harding probably will not go into the primaries himself. He has declared himself as opposed to primaries and in favor of the convention system so it will involve no inconsistency on his part to stay out of them as a matter of principle. Meanwhile Senator Hiram Johnson, Senator La Follette and others probably seek primary endorsements.

Warren Harding didn't get very far in the 1920 primaries but the convention chose him nevertheless. In fact, it was in Senator Harry New's house in Indiana that the historic episode of the primaries and stayed out. When he lost, it was generally supposed he would not seek the nomination again. Factionalism in Indiana prevented the choice at that time. Rumors were circulated that Dr. Hubert Work would take the postmaster generalship only for a year and would be replaced by Harry New but in the meantime, Secretary Fall's resignation permitted the president to retain the services of the Colorado member of his cabinet.

Head of A. M. A.

Dr. Work was president of the American Medical Association and is a master of detail and logic.

Secretary Fall thinks Dr.

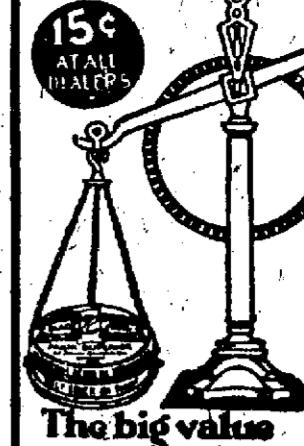

Work is just the right man to make a good secretary of the interior, especially because of his knowledge of the western viewpoint.

As for the postoffice department, the traditional theory has been that it needs a veteran politician.

Will Hayes was put there partly for that reason. Harry New was once chairman of the republican national committee and is probably the oldest active politician in the republican party.

THE INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM

Senate Adopts Huber Resolution; House for Meet to Change Basic Law.

(AP Associated Press.)

Mediation.—The initiative and referendum, as provided for in the Huber resolution to amend the constitution to permit the submission of questions to the people on petition was adopted by the senate Thursday and sent to the lower house. The vote was 18 to 14.

Under this proposal, concurrence in which is anticipated, people of the state may petition to have bills submitted to them before they become law. Amendments to the constitution may be proposed and voted on.

The assembly voted, 56 to 41, for a constitutional convention to be called to revise the basic law of Wisconsin, should the people so determine. This same proposal, now adopted by the assembly, was killed in the senate two weeks ago by one vote. The lower house action again will force the issue in the upper house.

Farmers Defeat Bill.

An attempt to pass the Leche bill, requiring the width of certain slough runners to be uniform, set at three feet, six inches, was unsuccessful in the assembly when farmers united to vote against its defeat. The lower house killed the bill, 48 to 45.

Approval was given the Sachsen bill prohibiting the conservation commission to confiscate property of persons violating the state game laws, except on approval of the judge trying the case.

The senate, 17 to 14, killed the Polakowski resolution calling for a constitutional amendment to permit the state to operate its own printing plant.

Party lines at primary elections in Wisconsin would be obliterated by enactment of the Gary bill, passed by the state senate Wednesday night. This proposal of Senator A. E. Gary, Edgerton, would permit voters to scratch their ballots at the primary, voting in different party columns. Socialist members opposed passage on the ground that the bill proposed to do away practically with parties in the state.

The senate passed the Ridgeway fireworks bill, prohibiting the sale of fireworks in the state except for specific purposes.

Treasury Savings Sale Mounts to $32,000 Mark Here

Janesville people have in their possession $32,615.50 in Treasury Savings Certificates, according to the table recently made out by Postmaster J. J. Cunningham. Part of them were secured through exchange of War Savings stamps, which fell due the first of January, others were purchased outright. The total value of the certificates fall due five years from the date of purchase will be $39,775, or an earning of $7,159.50 to Janesville people in five years. The stamps come in almost all denominations, starting with $25. One-hundred dollar stamps now sell for $30.

The sale of these stamps started in November, when through application to take effect at the end of the year, $1,209.50 was purchased by exchange. The following month, the corresponding figure was $6,662.50, while for January and February there were no records.

By cash, in November, $348 of stamps was purchased. The last month of 1922 saw an increase to $3,034, while for the first month of the new year, when the heaviest campaign was held for this purpose, the figure was $2,115.

In February it again dropped, to $246, making a total for the four months of $24,743.50, as compared with the exchange amount for two months, (the last two not being accounted for) of $7,872.

Thus the total amount actually paid for stamps in November was $1,558 and for December, $9,686.50. Cash figures are the totals because of the two months unaccounted for, making the total value today, in stamps more than $32,015.50, which will amount to $39,775 in five years.

CAFETERIA FITTED UP WITH 200 CHAIRS

More than 200 chairs and tables, enough to accommodate that many eaters, have been placed in the new high school cafeteria which is patronized every noon by many more than that number. Equipment, which will allow the eating and serving of meals has not yet arrived.

To accommodate the 400 and more who take their lunches to school, the noon hour is divided into three 20-minute periods, and the room cleared at the end of each period. A ruling has been made that there is to be no eating in the building except in this room.

Prices and terms have been submitted the board of education by many firms manufacturing cafeteria equipment, but no action has been taken.

Mr. Thalian, dramatic club, a high school organization, held its regular meeting after school Saturday, and selected Miss Elizabeth Capelle its new president following the resignation of Miss Adelhalde Fuchs, who gave up the office following the ruling made that a student may hold only a certain number of offices. THEATERS CHANGE PROGRAMS, FRIDAY

Every theater in Janesville will change its program on Friday and to the most devoted movie fans, the change will be welcome. The magnitude of some of the pictures here the first of the week necessitated holding them longer than usual and as a result many will be glad to see that they are on Friday, new bills at every house.

Beverly—Demand for "When Knighthood Was in Flower" was so great the middle of the week that it was decided to keep it through Thursday. Crowds have been at this magnificent production every performance and although many thought the price prohibitive, any who saw it declared it to be worth the money. It is a screen triumph. For the weekend will also see "The Romance Rides" from the Zane Grey book, "Wildfire," "Plunder," with Pearl White, will also be seen.

Apollo—Audiences at the Apollo have marvelled at the beauty of "Lorna Doone," one of the most perfect creations of past months. Acting, plot, action, scenery and costumes, are all of the best and make a well-balanced picture. For Friday, the theater will have a feature attraction, the use of 6000 feet of the four sets of vaudeville which will remain through Sunday night with comedies.

Myers—"The World's Applause" at the Myers will be replaced on Friday with vaudeville and "After the Show," a Paramount picture starring Lila Lee, Jack Holt and Charles Ogle. "The World's Applause" is a strong, yet pleasant picture, with a good moral. Scenery and costumes, both modern-day and good, and Bebe Daniels carries the show as the star. "After the Show," while it is of the stage and acting people, is an entirely different type of story.

Majestic—At the Majestic theater since the best pictures are now being given re-showings, many have been able to see what they missed the first time. "North of the Rio Grande" with Bebe Daniels and Jack Holt, and "In the Days of Buffalo Bill" after "Our Leading Citizen," starring Thomas Meighan and Reginald Denny, have left.

Silk lace was fashionable for frocks last spring, but this spring it is being used to make lovely negligees. Rich orange chiffon banded with clipped floss makes this robe for wear in the boudoir. A long panel of tan silk lace is a pleasing feature.

Police Break up Vicious Struggle in Muddy Street

Lightweight was matched against heavyweight when Ollie Meyers and Ernest Bluhm engaged in a fist-fight near the corner of Baseline and Main and South Avenue streets at 4:30 Wednesday afternoon. Although he was bleeding at the nose, Bluhm was on top of Meyers, the lightweight, and both were struggling in the mud when Patrolmen Con. O'Leary and Charles Harmon arrived in response to a call from neighbors.

The arrival of police spurred arbitration efforts of the participants and their friends, who proceeded around but the officers decided the fight with separate cells, was the place for them. Bluhm went without offering resistance but Meyers attempted an escape, jumping from the side-car. A Motorcycle Patrolman, George Porter's machine as it rounded a corner. He was captured, despite his efforts to ward off police men with a club.

The train is No. 22, coming from Milwaukee to Mineral Point.

"I was sitting in the couch and remarked how slow John Deere was going, he stopped, whistled at the crossing, and the next minute saw the automobile roll down the embankment," said Conductor Eards.

The car was struck on the left side of the hood near the cowls, breaking the pilot of the locomotive, and after snapping off three posts of the cattle guard, the engine went down the embankment demolished. The frame was broken, the motor was knocked out, the four wheels were broken and the transmission case was cracked. The body of the car was twisted out of shape and the top caved in. Porcelain insulators, wires, tools, and bulbs were strewn over the ground.

During the last few days Mr. Haskin issued the following booklet to readers of this newspaper: Prenatal care, baking and fuel facts, one each; rates and school lunches, three each; laundering, six and calendar, each. Calendars have claimed old most popularity ever since first offered.

STEINER IS STATE CHAIRMAN OF FINANCE

J. A. Steiner, general secretary, Y. M. C. A., returned Wednesday night from Chicago, where he attended a meeting of the financial committee of the Chicago Y. C. A. college, he being a member of this committee. The college budget was gone over and Mr. Steiner was appointed to take charge of the finances for Wisconsin. He is to get support from the city and county associations all over the state. Mr. Steiner said there are now 200 students in the college, most of whom go into association work in the midwest west.

Mr. Steiner is survived by his wife and four children, a son, 14, Robert, 12, Ray, 9, and Raymond, 7, and has a father living in La Crosse and three brothers and two sisters who live in other cities. Mrs. Steiner was Elizabeth Berger. They were married in Janesville, Dec. 4, 1907. Mr. Steiner was active in the Lutheran church work and was a singer.

For many years Mr. Steiner had been known as one of the best electricians in the city, having received his early training with the Janesville Electric company. About 10 years ago he entered business for himself, opening a shop on South Main street near the public library. Later he moved to East Milwaukee street and then to 15 South Main street, where the Wisconsin Electric company is now located. For some time he was in partnership with Earl Fuzzell. After selling out his business, he had his shop at his home, continuing his trade alone, until about two years ago when he entered the Home Electric company, Inc.

He had his shop at 111 West Milwaukee street.

On the Great Lakes fatalities, 16 lives were lost on the Canadian lighthouse tender Lampton, four on the tug Reliance and eight on the tug Cornell, lost on Lake Erie in December.

HASKIN GIVES OUT CODE FOR USE OF AMERICAN FLAG

Rules concerning the hanging of the American flag are violated in this city every day, and some of the following rules sent out by Frederic J. Haskin will be helpful: The flag out of doors should always fly to the breeze, from a mast or pole and never from a string, a pole, or a building; should never be hoisted before sunrise or after sunset; indoors, the flag may be draped, but should never be placed below a person sitting; should never be allowed to touch the ground; should always be on the right when hung with other flags; when hung from a window, should always have the field of blue on the left of a person in the street; when hung on a rope from building to building, have the flag blow toward the north or east and west streets, to the east or south.

To those who wonder what "Kolinsky" fur is, Mr. Haskin replies that it is the fur of the Russian mink, and gets its name as it is found in Kolinsky, Russia.

"The text, 'Be angry and sin not' has been the subject of many sermons by eminent divines," says Mr. Haskin. "The general opinion generally is that an righteous anger is not an act of sin is permissible as instanced in the story of Christ scourging the money changers who were profaning the temple. The differentiation is made in the hatred of the sin, but not of the sinner, since the very people whom Christ scourged were the ones whom he also died to save."

"The command, 'Provoke not your child to wrath,' is construed to mean that a parent is not justified in wilfully offending either the susceptibilities or principles of a child."

Figures on the cost of strikes are hard to secure, says Mr. Haskin, answering a Gazette reader, and those issued by the department of labor are but estimates.

"Even in the matter of the number of strikes that occur within a given period, government authorities have found it impossible to compile complete and accurate data. Unofficial statements vary greatly. To give even an estimate of all the statistics for which you ask would require a great amount of research and labor."

Valuable information on ten different topics has been given in the past week by Mr. Haskin of the Janesville Gazette. Information Bureau at Washington, D. C. in the form of booklets in addition to the many personal questions that Mr. Haskin answers. For the booklets, only the coupon published on the editorial page of each issue of the Gazette, and a two cent stamp is needed, while for information, enclosing a stamp will be sufficient to have the answer returned to you.

TOO MUCH SERVICE

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington.—If there is any one word which characterizes the spirit of American business today, that word is service. For the past 10 years service has been the watchword and the guiding star of a large part of human activity in the United States. In the old days people used to be content with doing a sober day's work in the old accustomed ways. Then somebody discovered that the winner in business was the man who gave his customers a better appearing product, or made it more convenient for them to buy from him, or added more to their comfort or pleasure, than did his competitor. At that moment the modern American idea of service was born.

Since then, with ambition in the saddle, service has been wielding the whip that has speeded up business to its present gait. Since then everybody has talked service. Advertisers have preached it. The business maxim makers have rung a thousand changes on the idea. Invention is directed at some sort of service on other. The developments in the use of electricity have been almost exclusively for the end of service.

The result of this trend has been a double one. First, it has made the United States, of all the countries of the earth, by far the most comfortable and convenient one in which to live. Second, it is the driving of the United States toward an economic disaster.

At any rate, this second conclusion is one that is being drawn by shrewd observers who see under the surface of things, and particularly by the joint congressional commission which recently conducted an exhaustive investigation of the plight of American agriculture, which finds itself unable to get along in this era of high prices. The commission by direct implication if not in so many words, has reached the conclusion that as a nation we are being serviced to death.

The danger signals are only too apparent in the statistics. When millions of people on earth are starving and simultaneously American farmers are burning corn for fuel because its price to them does not pay for shipping it to market, something is radically wrong. When customers are still paying war prices for bread while the farmers are not minding the cost of producing the wheat crop, it is time for a readjustment of things. The common opinion blames it on the so-called middlemen and regards them as profiteers and extortionists. This is the usual view, too, held by the farmers; and the joint commission, made up principally of farmers, representatives in Congress, no doubt expected their investigation to uncover a great chain of undue profits taken by the distributors.

The GOVERNOR, THE GUARD AND THE LEGISLATURE.

From what the governor says of the national guard it would seem that the only persons who want the guard abolished are the members of the assembly who steam-rolled the bill through that body and twiddled their fingers at the opposition.

Governor Blaine has arrayed himself on the side of Messrs. Matheson and Mosely and 12 others who voted in the negative. It must be remembered that the Beloit representative in the assembly, as one of the members of the state affairs committee, first voted with Prescott of Milwaukee against the favorable report on the bill.

Senator La Follette is also on record against the bill and therefore the members of the assembly who are followers after the Great Leader are in a most peculiarly embarrassing position. But they will be forgiven if they reverse themselves, some one else now having thought it all out for them. Hereafter we shall be sure that the assembly will not be so fast and will attempt at least to find out what the bosses of the progressive-socialist party want before rashly committing them selves.

The governor has good reasons as stated in his explanation Tuesday, for not wanting to abolish the guard. The guard is a factor in the state government—an integral part of it, as it were. The bill for abolition was introduced by a socialist and given its hearty support by the socialist members. It was rather disconcerting to see the unanimity of those who called themselves progressives, in flocking to the socialist standard. There are, however, evidences of rebellion in the socialist ranks, not so much over the guard bill, as the tax bill. The powerful hand of Mayor Dan Ioan of Milwaukee, is here seen. He finds that the Dahl bill will take away a large part of the revenue of the city of which he is mayor, and the repeal of the personal property offset will add still further to the tax burdens of the property owners. So he is in opposition and it will again be up to the senate, which has now come to be the bulwark of the people, to kill the tax measure. If that is done the Czerwinski resolution providing for a thorough examination of the tax question of the state and that recommendations be made for tax legislation in the future, will have some chance of passing. There is no use going off half-cooked over a tax bill and the political advantages which will accrue from the Dahl bill will certainly be negligible even should it pass. The very fact that the members of the majority party in the legislature, the progressive-socialists and allies, the socialist-progressives, who control the assembly, are not in accord over the bill, should lead to caution and care that the result is not a boomerang to the ranks of those dominant elements.

It is a great relief to know that the counterfeit bills have all been of twenty dollars or higher.

FIXING UP WASHINGTON'S WORDS

Two weeks ago the Gazette printed on its front page selections from the words of Washington in the Farewell address, that most notable state document of the first president. One would gather from reading those extracts and if curious enough, the whole address, that Washington was earnestly advising his fellow citizens of that day and warning of the future against a foreign policy that would entangle the United States in the political ambitions, rivalries and caprices of European nations.

Yet in the face of these plain and unequivocal words a number of newspapers and periodicals which seem to have only one desire, that of getting the United States into those very alliances with "ambitions, rivalries and caprices" of Europe, have attempted to say that Washington did not say "entangling alliances" and that he did not mean that we should not get into foreign politics at all. It is true that he did not use the exact words "entangling alliances" but that we should not "entangle ourselves." There are quibbles only. Let us not be led astray; here is what he said:

"Why, by interweaving our destiny with that of any part of Europe, entangle our peace and prosperity in the toils of European ambition, rivalry, interest, humor or caprice?" It is our true policy to steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world; and "we may safely trust to temporary alliances for extraordinary emergencies."

Analyzing some of these critics, the Boston Transcript says that this is clear and plain. "When Washington said 'temporary,' he meant 'tempo-

JUST FOLKS

BY EDGAR A. GUESS

BLOW THE DIRT.
He'd been delivering a load of coal, and a five-ton truck he steered. He wasn't a pretty sight to see with his four days' growth of beard. His clothes were such as a coal man wears, and the fine folks passing by would have scoured the touch of his dirty hands and the look in his weary eye.

He rattled and banged along the road, sick of his job, no doubt. When in front of his truck, from a hidden spot, a dog and a child dashed out. And the truck stopped, leaping from the height of his driver's seat. And he caught the child with those dirty hands and swept her from the street.

Over his legs went the heavy wheels, and they picked him up for dead. Then the rich man's wife placed her sable coat as a pillow for his head. And, black as he was, the rich man said, "He shall travel home with me." And he sat by his side in the limousine and was proud of his company.

You may walk in pride in your garments fine, you may judge by the things of show. But what's deep in the breast of the man you scorn is something you cannot know. And you kiss the hand of the dirtiest man that ever the world has known. If to save the life of the child you love he had bravely risked his own.

Who's Who Today

THOMAS E. CAMPBELL

Thomas E. Campbell, former governor of Arizona, was listed among the possible successors to Secretary of the Interior Fall. Campbell is forty-five years old, having been born in Prescott, Arizona, in 1878. He was educated in the public schools and attended St. Mary's college at Oakland, Cal., for one year.

He started on his political career at an early age, holding the office of assistant postmaster of Prescott from 1884-85. He became acting postmaster for the following two years. In 1900, the year he was married, he became a member of the territorial legislature of Arizona. In 1902, he was again named postmaster of Prescott and served in that capacity until 1905. His next stop in politics was as county assessor of Yavapai county, Arizona. He served there from 1907-11 and 1912-15.

Campbell then started his national career running for congress on the republican ticket in 1914. He was made state-tax commissioner the next year and in 1916 was elected governor, but held the office only a few weeks, as a recount showed him defeated by some forty-three votes. He was elected again, however, for the term 1916-22 and re-elected for 1922-23.

The ex-governor has one publication to his credit, "Centralized Authority in Taxation."

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

To Old at 51?

The Evening Journal, one of Mr. Hearst's newspapers, complains that Comptroller Craig is "too old to be of any great use in the public service." Mr. Craig is 51 years old. Mr. Hearst himself will be 60 in April. Mayor Hyland is nearly 55. Governor Smith will be 59 the next year. Charles F. Murphy is 64. At 51 Milton was just plunging into "Paradise Lost."

The difficulty is not made less by the fact that under present conditions all these services are necessary ones. With 110,000,000 people organized as we are, over half of us living in the cities far from the corn lands, wheat fields, and cattle ranges that feed us, distribution has become as important as production. The farms might produce the greatest crops in history, but if distribution failed there would be famine at the bottom of the heap if the ones being crushed.

The solution must be a rearrangement which will provide for all the necessary services of distribution but at the same time conduct them more economically and thus bring down the cost of service nearer to an equality with the cost of production. How this is to be done is a problem to tax the minds of the greatest economists we have.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

March 1, 1883.—Thomas Morrissey, Dennis McGinnis and Al Brington, ball players of the city, were at the ball park here last season, have secured good positions with big league teams for the approaching season. Snow is fast disappearing and it will be only a few days before sleighs and cutters will all be put up for the summer.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

March 1, 1903.—"Commercial and Industrial Conditions in Foreign Dependencies" is the topic to be lectured at next evening's meeting of the Social Union club. E. N. Edwards is the leader.—Brick for the new building to be erected for Bassett and Echlin by J. M. Bostwick, has begun to arrive. Construction will start when spring sets in.

TEN YEARS AGO

March 1, 1913.—Boat growers of the county met at the city hall last night and declared their disapproval of the new contract made by the Rock County Sugar company which would take the responsibility for the boats when they had left the dealer's stand, but would not give farm credit at the same time. Janeville high school won again last night from Lake Mills, 64-7, and is now in line for the state championship.

THE DUST HAZARD

Dust is any foul or foreign material adhering to anything to such an extent that the neighbors may notice it. Dust is any dry substance so finely comminuted or ground that it may be readily blown about in the air. Neither dust nor dirt is necessarily prejudicial to health, even though it be a nuisance in the common sense, that is, annoying, offensive to smell or sight or damaging to property. Street dust, which contains particles of sputum and other excretions, is a public health hazard that is, detrimental to health. The dust in various industries are hazardous, in four ways: first, as foreign matter in the air, setting up chronic disease of the air-passages-bronchial tubes and sometimes the lungs; second, as minute cutting particles (stone, glass, wood, etc.) which do not penetrate the delicate lining of bronchial tubes or lungs and thereby favoring invasion by tubercle bacilli to produce tuberculosis; third, as particles of poisonous substances such as lead, arsenic or mercury in various trades; fourth, when the particles are of a combustible nature the dust may be explosive.

Dust is a normal and indispensable constituent of the air. Without dust there would be no rain clouds or mists; our clothing would always be damp; our walls would drip moisture and our climate would be execrable. The dust always present in the air limits humidity by causing precipitation of water vapor by the formation of mist, clouds and fog.

There are many truth in the idea that an expectant mother must not be around fresh paint (G. J. E.).

Answer—I cannot say it is not possible, although I can find no record of it, among the cases of tuberculosis of laundry workers have not shown that the handlers of soiled clothes are more subject to any contagious disease than the general population of people. In fact, there is some reason to believe that laundry workers enjoy rather better health than others and that laundry work is one of the mildest.

AN EXCELLENT EVENT

Chapter 4

So Pan wrote to George. But she had to think of a reason to write, without giving him the real one. It seemed odd to her that it was necessary to give much of life's convincing reasons for doing what the going of which was amply justified by the reasons that existed. It didn't in the least agree with the principles of her honest, straightforward little soul.

But she recognized that she couldn't sit down and say that Sankey was in London, and here was warning to George!

"Fact," Gloria had once remarked, "is that half my station between truth and falsehood. It's neither one nor the other, it's neutral and useful as well."

So Pan wrote a tactful letter.

"Frankie and I know our way all around the city by this time," she said this—was the exaggeration she realized. "We've been shopping by ourselves. Gloria has been very busy, though this is true enough. Today we found the most charming old square and church—and here followed an enthusiastic description of St. Bartholomew's with its remnants of Norman work, it's early Gothic, its beautiful antiquity, set just off the swirl of London's City district, and in part of her busy day.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about 50¢.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a cough is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or cold in 24 hours. Most pleasant, too—children like it, and it is pure and good.

Four $\frac{1}{2}$ ounces of Pinek in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full cold or cough syrup, but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a 'cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick instant relief.

It promptly helps the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinek is a highly concentrated compound of New Zealand pine extract.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. of Pinek with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinek Co., El. Wayne, Ind.

FRIENDS NOTICED IMPROVEMENT

Wonderful Results from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bethel, Wis.—My female trouble was brought on by overwork. I had worked in stores and had to do heavier work than my strength could stand, and had to be on my feet most of the time. Finally I had to give up this work entirely and stay at home. Doctor's medicine did not give me much relief and my mother wanted me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took a couple of bottles of it and thought it did not help me as much as it should, so I gave it up to try something else. Nothing I took helped me much, so I finally decided to give the Vegetable Compound another trial and to take enough of it to make sure it would help me. I have taken it over a year now and it has brought wonderful results. I have gained from 90 to 110 pounds and am keeping house now. My friends all notice the change in my health. I will be glad to answer all letters that women write to me about the Vegetable Compound.—Mrs. W. G. MONSON, 1615 Park Ave., Elcoy, Wis.

MISSION SCHOOLS CAPTURING CHINA

Sympathy and Understanding Grow as Education Proceeds, Says S. S. Beath.

Evansville—Christian missions are helping to bring America into contact with China on equal terms, so we may work out our problems together, says S. S. Beath, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Beath, Evansville, who has returned from mission work in China to attend the University.

"There is a growing feeling on the part of intelligent men that China is not to be one of the greatest nations on the globe," he said. "We must prepare for that day, so we may be confronted by a friendly China, not a hostile nation. Missionary work smooths the way for sympathy and education along Christian lines and misundstanding.

"China presents many contrasts to us. In the last country, the foreigner is constantly watched by the police. In China one can go anywhere without molestation. The Chinese seem to make a stronger appeal to the American, due doubtless to his straightforwardness, the Japanese being a little inclined to the Japanese being a little inclined to the Chinese."

"General conditions in China are favorable, but there still is a vacuum in the air. North and south factions still exist, which are different. The south is more progressive and the north more reactionary."

"The present method of foreign missions is to train native leaders through the schools. It was difficult to get leading Chinese into the church, but they could be interested through education, and now they trust their boys and girls in the hands of European mission schools freely. Today you will find thousands of schools, ranging from universities to kindergartens, operated by mission societies throughout every part of China."

Sewing Classes to Have Roundup

Evansville—The sewing classes conducted by Miss Sadie McNulty will have a roundup in Evansville on Friday, March 17, at an all day session to which all other clubs in the county are invited.

The Farm Bureau will hold a meeting here Saturday date with out-of-town speakers. Women of the Congregational church will serve dinner for both organizations.

WOMEN INTERESTED IN ATHLETIC CLUB

Evansville—The women of Evansville are taking great interest in the organized Women's Athletic club, which has raised from membership of 27 to 50 in a week. Many more have their applications in.

This club meets Monday and Wednesday nights in the high school gym. Officers are: Mrs. C. A. Smith, president; Miss Dorothy Richford, secretary and Mrs. C. W. Babcock, treasurer.

The physical directors are Miss Stevens and Miss Elsa Heberling, 3111, teachers in the public schools.

DEEP WATERWAYS IMPERATIVE, PORT CITIES ARE TOLD

and used for the development of water power at the expense of Wisconsin and of other states with port facilities on the Great Lakes, J. G. D. Mack, state engineer of Wisconsin, declared in his opening address at the conference. He dubbed the drainage canal project, a waterpower "steal."

Mr. Mack discussed the international proceedings started by the state of Wisconsin against the state of Illinois and the Chicago Drainage Canal to restrain further diversion of water from the Great Lakes. It is believed that as a result of this conference the Wisconsin suit will be endorsed and other states induced to take part in the proceedings, which would put an end to the lowering of lake levels by Chicago.

"The state of Wisconsin is vitally interested in the improvement of water transportation," Mr. Mack said. "Highways, highway and water transportation, when adequately developed and maintained, will be supplementary and not competitive. When this point is reached, each system will add to the value of the other."

"In relation to the state of Wisconsin, water transportation now bears about the same relation to what it should be as highway transportation of 1907 bears to what it will be in 1935, which we can forecast to some extent. From our estimates of the construction and experience of the past 16 years,

"We are interested in water outlets to the sea, both by the St. Lawrence river and by the Mississippi river. The improvement of the Mississippi and the construction of the barge canal from Chicago to this great waterway, will be of great value to us and we are strongly in favor of both projects."

Depth Imperative

"In order to have any waterway a permanent success, one element which overshadows all others is that of an adequate and fixed minimum depth of channels, harbors and other portions of the waterways. This season, the Lake Superior Association estimated in 1912 that on the route from Lake Superior through the Soo canal to Lake Erie ports, one inch reduction in depth results in a loss of $750,000 per year in freight revenue. After a great harbor and its accompanying works has been built for a given depth, lowering of the water level will cause a tremendous loss. The cities on the Great Lakes must therefore use every effort to preserve and guard the water levels against lowering due to preventable causes."

Greater Than Needed

Turning to a discussion of the Chicago Drainage canal, Mr. Mack said that "from the records it appears that the present flow through the drainage canal has reduced the lake levels about five-tenths of a foot." The flow of 4,167 feet per second is sufficient probably for the antiquated system of sewage disposal in use and it is far in excess of the requirements for navigation.

"If the water now used for water power in the drainage canal were not diverted, but allowed to take its natural course through the Great Lakes, it would produce five to six times as much power in the Niagara district due to the greater head."

A Thought of Matthew Arnold

Fear that his country might swing away from the Bible. That it might come about through neglect of the Bible or one having the right wrong teaching over the other." And he said that "the Bible should be studied constantly as a model by which man ought to learn to write," in the manner in which the great essayist expressed his veneration for the Bible. Matthew Arnold was a deep thinker, an eminent critic and a consummate master of style. He is studied and followed today by all those who are concerned with speech or writing. Text books come and sometimes reflect his thought, different people educational products, but the Bible remains a standard, began as a standard, and at the end of time will remain the final standard to follow for beautiful construction, and for the constructive suggestion of beautiful and ennobling thought.

Black Cats Nosed Out by Watertown Turners, 31 to 30

Copyright 1920, by Geo. McManus

FELINES IN RALLY BUT PEP TOO LATE TO ANNEX BATTLE

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Watertown — A belated rally made by the Janesville Black Cats in the last minutes of play did not come soon enough, and the Watertown Turners defeated the local Felines here Wednesday night, 31 to 30. It was a sensational contest, the comeback of the Cats being the surprise of the occasion and the greatest demonstration seen here this season.

With the score 22-19 in favor of the local Turners with two minutes to go, it looked as if the Felines were doomed. When the locals set forth on a sizzling pace and increased that lead to 31, while the Cats were held scoreless for five minutes, fans said Watertown had swamped the Felines.

Come Back With Bang

Then something happened. "Gopher" Kober came out of his hole, swished a long basket through the meshes and the Felines were dead. Just as Watertown had downed the Cats, Janesville then held Watertown and ran up the score to 33-30. Babcock and Keppler doing the rest of the scoring, in addition to another long one by Kober.

The game was unusually clean. Kober entertained with his usual dribbling. Kakuske turned out a great guarding game. Lanphier did not make the trip with the team, being at Edgerton as a referee.

Marguard and Boettcher were Watertown's stars, fast and good on the follow up.

Watertown will play a return at Janesville in the near future. Saturday night the Cats are playing at Brooklyn.

Monticello.—The Brooklyn Tigers lost to the Monroe seconds here, 20 to 26. Lanphier and Keppler of the Janesville Black Cats played with Monroe, both starring, while M. Watto and P. Wackman did big work for the Brooklyn. A period of nine minutes elapsed before a score was made by either team when the game started. The count was tied, 10-10, at the half. BRINGING UP FATHER

Blue Basketers Complete Schedule Here on Friday

Bugs High Man of Bowling Bugs

Tonight is the last opportunity for fans of Janesville to see the high school basketball teams in action on their home court this season. In fact, it will be the last time the Blues perform outside of the White-water normal district basketball tournament.

White-water normal high is the opposition for the Klontons. They are to start action against the Badgers tonight at 8:15 p. m. in the new gymnasium as a preliminary contest. The local seconds meet the Edgerton high seconds at 7:30 p. m.

Most Guard Center

The novices have defeated Edgerton this season. As a result, the outcome of Friday's affair will be interesting. Janesville has divided with the Tobacco city, winning the second game by a fair margin. It means a battle.

The center on the Whitewater squad is the lad who will give Jamesville trouble. He is considered one of the best basketball players in southern Wisconsin, a man who will demand much of guarding.

Fun in Store Practice

Janesville has been putting in a lot of effort practice for Friday's game. The lads were given a layoff

Tuesday, but were hard at it again

Wednesday. They are going good in this work with every member of the squad in fine shape.

The usual lineup will appear for Janesville Friday. Possess of Madison will referee. Part of the band will be out to make the windup when he should step within the boundaries.

BUT, ALL kidding aside, the real injury such a law would cause would be to make hunting in Wisconsin a rich man's game. If Bloomberg wants to conserve game in this state let him conserve it by closed seasons. The license tags would cover all forms of hunting and by laws we can have a state hunt ship on the lad who goes out with his little gun and shoots rabbit and other small game. It is up to the sportsmen of this vicinity to get busy and defeat this law.

Five hundred athletes will compete in Illinois relays next Saturday.

Jim Barnes, former U. S. open golf champ, and Johnny Farrell, defeated Gene Sarazen, present open champ, and Joe Hutchinson, former British title holder, at Miami, Fla.

BANKRUPT'S LAND SALE RULED VOID

Fitch Deeded to Wife, Seeing Failure Inevitable—Grimm Holds.

Conveyance by James P. Fitch, former Janesville storekeeper, of his interests in property on Center Avenue to his wife, Sophie L. Grimm, Wednesday afternoon, in deciding the case of Fred L. Clemmons, trustee in bankruptcy of James P. Fitch, against James P. Fitch and Sophie L. Fitch.

The action was started by Mr. Clemmons to have the property included as part of his assets which would be subject to claims of creditors, and is one of the most interesting cases of its kind on record. It was contended by the defendant that transfer of the property took place on May 1, 1920, through payment by her of $500 on purchase price of the lot which cost $4,500, and a dated receipt was produced as evidence.

Claims Receipt too Fresh

Dog Tax Total

Jumps to 402

Through special efforts made during the last 10 days, the total number of dog licenses issued in the city has mounted to the 400 mark with prospects of running even higher before the end of this year. George Charles, County-appointed a deputy city treasurer, W. J. Lannertz to take charge of the license issuance this year, has warned all delinquents by telephone to get tags at once.

To those who have no phone he is sending the following card:

"It appears on our records that you own a dog. If the dog no longer exists in your possession kindly notify this office."

"If you have a dog, you are hereby notified that unless you obtain a license within five days it will be my duty to report you to the district attorney. The penalty is from $3 to $5. Your name is on our records and if you have no dog be sure to notify this department."

JUDGE CLARK, BELOIT, WANTS JURY DRAWINGS
CHANGED BY NEW LAW

Judge John E. Clark of the Beloit municipal court was a court house visitor Wednesday, appearing as a witness in a naturalization hearing. Judge Clark is much interested in a bill now before the legislature and which is expected to be passed. The bill will allow the drawing of jurors from the Beloit municipality instead of the assembly district of Rock county, instead of just the city of Beloit. It is expected that this will make the enforcement of prohibition laws much more satisfactory through getting unprejudiced jurors. He has been found that the men on the lists have been either decidedly for or against the Huber law as under the present system little can be done in punishing liquor violators. No discrimination by judges is allowed as the Huber law now stands.

Seventy-seven cases compose the calendar for the March term of the Rock county circuit court which opens Monday, with the jury called for Tuesday. The calendar is about 20 cases smaller than the 1922 fall term which was the largest in history.

But two criminal cases are included, those against Mary and Agnes McCarthy, Janesville, charged with destroying evidence in a liquid case and a charge of violation of the pure food laws against Dan Dennis, Beloit, appealed from the municipal court there.

Among the cases expected to prove interesting, providing they come to trial, are the multiparatus suits of Frank and Ida Greenwood against Drs. T. F. Shimnick and W. J. The last named suit has been to the state supreme court and sent back for trial when the decision of the lower court holding non-suit was overruled.

Judge Grimm is expected to continue his policy of pressing settlement of cases.

Just a Little Letter

To My Friends in Rock County

Dear Friends:

It is my hope and desire that the salutation of this letter will include all of the people of Rock County and vicinity.

You will see by the announcement in this paper that on and after March 1st I will be pleased to offer my services as business counselor in the several lines which I handle.

My office is located at 8 West Milwaukee Street between the Merchants and Savings Bank and Ford's Clothing Store. We think it is a dandy little office, convenient on the street level, supplied with proper references, managed only by myself, and assisted by Miss Margaret Vickerman, whom many of you will remember as the courteous, efficient young lady who worked with us in the Bank of Southern Wisconsin. We believe we can supply your every need courteously and efficiently in our several lines of work: Investment Securities, Insurance (Life and all other lines) and Real Estate. Twenty years experience in business, during which time I have successfully sold all of the lines I am now handling, and twelve years as manager of the offices I worked in, has qualified me for the work I am now entering.

Text—"I was led to be that which is the name of the Lord." Luke 12:

The King, at last, is come into His own. The week of the Passover has become the Coronation week. Though crowned at last with thorns, though the cross became His throne, this was His time of triumph. Though it ended in pain and death, it was a conqueror's pain and a hero's death. As a commander gives his life, leading his troops in battle, and so did the Captain of our Salvation's victory.

His name is "JESUS" for it is He that shall save His people from their sins. He came to save from the machinations of Satan. We are assured that He was manifested to destroy the works of Satan, and to deliver us from the power of darkness. He is the only one able to bind Satan, His dominion, and to expel him from His realm. Every man in this fallen world knows that sin is a terrible reality; that it has power over the hearts of men and women. Look at your heart; sin is there. It is a disease of your nature and death is its end sequence. It is tormenting and God and hell is its punishment. It is a tormenting high heaven and remorse is its penalty. Yes, this Jesus, the Christ, is passing in triumph today! See the joyous, grateful multitudes who sing to His name. The long line runs back through a thousand years down to the day of the Second Coming of Christ. And where do you stand?

Holding aloft at the Pharisees did

Am I men and women, how many are standing today by the wayside as the Lord passes by! Those who have stood by and permitted others to honor Him—Come with us! He needs you, but not half so much as you need Him. You respect His name. Then honor and敬爱 His name. Stand not at the wayside, come close and identify yourselves with His name.

O that we might all join this procession of the captives and enter the City of Faith in triumph with Him, singing with the choir invisible of those who have followed Him from the first:

"Hosanna to the Son of God! Hosanna in the Highest!"
